Some people want to use public transportation but don't because they are not familiar with the services and how they operate. OmniRide's On-the-Go Travel Training Program is designed to help potential riders get over the hurdle of the unfamiliar and become confident users of public transportation.

This free program provides:

- One-on-one or group training opportunities for individuals who want to learn how to ride or gain confidence using public transportation.
- Train-the-trainer opportunities for clinicians and others who will be providing information and travel training services to others.

Call 703-730-6664 for more information about OmniRide's travel training program.
