Prince William Club is a psychosocial rehabilitation program intended to support adults with psychiatric and cognitive disabilities move forward in their recovery. The program is designed to help individuals determine their strengths, needs and capabilities while determining individual recovery goals. Staff members work side by side with individuals in a structured environment where pre-vocational skill learning, a variety of evidenced based psychosocial educational opportunities, and social skill building are utilized in the effort to support recovery. Transportation to and from the program is usually available to all individuals.
