St. Luke Community Clinic (SLCC) offers free medical care for acute, minor illnesses, and chronic medical problems. Appropriate referrals are made to other providers in the community for patients needing specialty care including laboratory work or x-rays. Although care provided at the clinic is free, any care offered outside the clinic, such as through a specialist, may come with a cost. Patients are responsible for asking about their responsibility for payment. The clinic does not pay any medical or hospital costs for patients.

Registered clinic patients may obtain their medications through the clinic either through a discounted pharmacy program or through Patient Assistance Programs. Patient Assistance Programs are sponsored by drug manufacturers and offer certain medications at no cost to eligible patients.

St. Luke Community clinic offers services to those patients who meet the eligibility guidelines and are within the scope of the clinic's care. No individual will be discriminated against because of their race, ethnic group, religion, gender, or sexual preference.
