The Entrepreneur's Source (TES) provides a safe space for transitioning military and veterans to learn about and explore business ownership and franchising. There is no cost, risk, or obligation involved in working with a TES coach. Coaching includes education on different types of business ownership, examination of whether it is right for the individual, business financing, and other issues. If and when appropriate, the TES coach presents specific franchise models to the client, makes introductions, and coaches the client through the exploration process that includes learning about the business models and making decisions about whether a business is the right fit for the individual. The coach can assist the client all the way through the process of getting the business started and operational.
