In The Arc's Virtual Program Library™ people with intellectual and developmental disabilities (IDD) and their caregivers can find and share on-demand activities that they can use whenever it is convenient for them in the comfort of their own homes. Service providers can also find and share resources that they can use to facilitate or deliver live, remote programming for people with IDD.

Resource topics include:

- Arts,
- Community and Life Skills,
- Education and Employment,
- Family Support,
- Health and Wellness,
- Independent Living,
- Museum Tours,
- Music,
- Transition Skills,
- Virtual Clubs.

Some programs charge fees, but many are available at no cost.
